	I'm confident I'm in good shape here.	Sometimes this is good, sometimes not.	I need to think about how I can improve.
I truly believe all students can learn.
I never think "this student is never going to learn this."
I insist that each student learns, and I don't stop until he or she does.
I ignore or stop teachers when they start telling negative stories about students.
When I'm in a meeting with other teachers, and we are given an opportunity to share, I tell a positive story about my students, even when I've had a bad week.
I take time every day to write down at least three positive things about my students.
I recognize students' efforts, not just their successes.
I say more positive things than negative ones.
