If you are smart, you don't have to try hard.
The harder you work, the smarter you will be.
I can learn new things, but it doesn't mean I'm smart; I'm just lucky.
Only some people are really good at certain subjects, like math.

If something is too hard, I give up because I'm not smart enough.
I like it when work is easy for me.
I like learning when I have to think hard.
If someone gives me feedback about something I can improve, I get upset.

If I don't know what to do, that means I'm not smart enough.
I don't like trying new things, especially if they look hard.
I'll ask for help if I need it.
